American Society of Gas Engineers

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Greetings and Welcome to 2019. A new year is here and June will be upon us quicker than we expect. 2018 is gone and we look forward to another year and new certified engineers. ASGE is now being promoted through an advertisement in appliance magazine. If you get an opportunity, check out the magazine and look for our ad.

Our membership grew by 42 members as of June with 33 engineers becoming certified gas engineers.

Our website underwent a revamp and update. The member roster page now allows members to upload a picture to accompany their profile. A section has also been added to list all the legacy members over the years. Registration and payment for the conference, the certification program and study material can all be completed online.

New members were selected to lead the award selection committee. These members were Bill Salem, Tony Leeseberg, Andy Luna, Bob Cowan, and Daryl Hosler. The committee created a new lifetime member award, which was presented at the June conference to Jerry Moore and Daryl Hosler.

During our annual board meeting, it was agreed that we would meet once again at the South Pointe Resort. Additional information is presented within this newsletter. Make sure you register early and come prepared to learn. If there are any specific topics or if you would be interested in presenting a topic please contact our Vice President Eric Bruton at ebruton@heatco.com.

We continue to get strong support from our corporate sponsors and welcome any new companies who would be willing to join our organization. Please ask your companies if they would be willing to sponsor ASGE and to certify their engineers.

I look forward to completing my term as the National President this year. Do not forget to complete your nominations for new officers and send them to Jerry Moore. I am very happy to have been able to serve you our members and hope that this year will be another exceptional year for our society.

Ray Maddock, CGE
